Conference Presentations

I am very active in my primary academic organization, The American Academy of Religion (AAR). I am also active within the American Historical Association (AHA), the Organization of American Historians (OAH), and the American Catholic Historical Association (ACHA). Every spring, fall, and winter, I am invited to preside over conference panels as the presider or respondent. I also regularly present my research at my primary conferences and on average travel/Zoom to 4 conferences per year in the role of respondent, presider, and presenter.

Series Creator and Editor, Where Religion Lives (WRL) Book Series, The University of North Carolina Press

I created this book series and work closely with Elaine Maisner, Executive Editor at UNC Press. Our aim is to publish 2-4 top ethnographies of religion each calendar year, and to be the premiere book series for cutting-edge ethnographies of religion. As series founder and editor, I am an involved, hands-on mentor and editor with our prospective authors and authors. <http://wrlbookseries.com> <https://www.uncpress.org/series/ethnographies-of-religion/> Twitter handle: @WhereRelLives
